

The top 5 best performing amLeague managers of 2013

By Atholl Simpson on 06 January 2014

As the curtain falls on 2013 the highest returning manager in the amLeague competition across the whole of last year was a duo from Invesco Asset Management, Jeremy Taylor and Matthew Perowne.

Over the twelve month period the eurozone equity managers built up a commanding lead to finish off 2013 with a return of 38.70%, the best performance across all the league's mandates.

While Taylor and Perowne emerged as the clear winners, the remaining spots in the top four were a closely fought contest.

In second place in the overall amLeague best performing manager ranking were Roche-Brune AM duo Bruno Fine and Grégoire Laverne. The duo, also in the eurozone equity mandate, posted returns of 31.4%.

They were followed by AllianceBernstein's Global Equity Value team, who returned 30.24% in 2013. This made them the only global equity team to feature in the top five as well as the top ten best performers of last year.

The US giant's strong performance was also present in the eurozone equity mandate. Its Eurozone Strategic Value team's consistent returns saw it take fourth place in the overall annual rankings with 29.67%.

Rounding off the top five best performers of 2013 is BNP Paribas's THEAM team, which posted returns of 28.06% in 2013.
